Re: The Hunter's Edge Show

Dear Mr. Bulger,

This is to advise you that the Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau (CGB) of the Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") has reviewed the petition you filed on behalf of Hunter's Edge LLC seeking an exemption from the closed captioning rules and your letter stating that that petition remains accurate. CGB has found that the petition provides some, but not all, of the information needed for us to make a determination as to whether or not the FCC closed captioning requirements would be economically burdensome for you.

As an initial matter, your petition suggests that Hunter's Edge LLC should be exempt based on Section 79.1(d)(8), which exempts from the closed captioning rules "locally produced and distributed non-news programming with no repeat value." This exemption applies to "programming that is locally produced by the video programming distributor, has no repeat value, is of local public interest, is not news programming, and for which the 'electronic news room' technique of captioning is unavailable" (emphasis added). Video programming distributor is defined in Section 79.1(a)(2) as follows: "Any television broadcast station licensed by the Commission and any multi-channel video programming distributor as defined in Section 76.1000(e) of the rules, and any other distributor of video programming for residential reception that delivers such programming directly to the home and is subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission" (emphasis added). We note that this self-implementing exemption is a narrowly focused exemption.¹ Hunter's Edge LLC does not explain or provide adequate support for its contention that its program falls within the scope of this exemption. Further, we note that Hunter's Edge LLC has not demonstrated that it is a video programming distributor within the meaning of the FCC's Rules. Accordingly, we find, based on the information before us, that the exemption is inapplicable under the circumstances presented.

If you wish for the petition to receive further consideration for a closed captioning exemption, you must supplement your petition by providing us with the information described below, by August 24, 2012. The information we need is:

- Documentation of your financial status sufficient to demonstrate your inability to afford closed captioning – for example, profit and loss statements or bank statement information (This should not just include the resources devoted to or the costs associated with the television program at issue.);

- Information about the costs associated with captioning the specific program(s) for which the petitioner is requesting an exemption;
- Verification that you have sought additional sponsorship sources or other sources of revenue for captioning, and that, even if these efforts have not successfully produced assistance, you do not otherwise have the means to provide captioning for the program(s); and,
- An affidavit - i.e., a written sworn statement made under oath before an official attesting to the truthfulness and accuracy of the material in your petition - or a signature made under penalty of perjury.

If you do not file this additional information by August 24, 2012, or the information that you provide is still not sufficient for us to make a determination, your petition will be dismissed without prejudice to re-filing on October 23, 2012, which is 90 days from the date of this letter, and you will be required to begin providing closed captions for your programming on October 24, 2012.

Here is information that may help you better understand how the FCC processes individual requests for captioning exemptions:

THE PETITION PROCESS – What a Petition Must Contain

The FCC's process for handling closed captioning exemption petitions has multiple steps. CGB is responsible for reviewing and deciding the merits of exemption petitions.

When CGB receives a petition, it must first determine whether a petition contains sufficient information to be placed on public notice (i.e., released to the public) so that the public can comment on its merits. CGB looks to whether the petition contains up-to-date evidence, supported by affidavit, to show that it would be economically burdensome to provide closed captioning for the specific programming for which an exemption is sought. Section 713(e) of the Communications Act and the FCC's rules at 47 C.F.R. § 79.1(f)(2) define "economically burdensome" as "significant difficulty or expense." In determining whether the provision of closed captions will cause significant difficulty or expense, these provisions require the FCC to consider four factors: (1) the nature and cost of the closed captions for the programming; (2) the impact on the operation of the provider or program owner; (3) the financial resources of the provider or program owner; and (4) the type of operations of the provider or program owner.

In order to prove that the provision of closed captioning would impose an economic burden when applying the above four factors, a petition must contain the following:

1. Documentation of the petitioner's financial status sufficient to demonstrate the petitioner's inability to afford closed captioning – for example, profit and loss statements or bank statement information (This should not just include the resources devoted to or the costs associated with the television program at issue.);
2. Information about the costs associated with captioning the specific program(s) for which the petitioner is requesting an exemption;
3. Verification that the petitioner has sought closed captioning assistance (e.g., funding, services) from its video programming distributor, including the extent to which such assistance has been provided or rejected;

4. Verification that the petitioner has sought additional sponsorship sources or other sources of revenue for captioning, and that, even if these efforts have not successfully produced assistance, the petitioner does not otherwise have the means to provide captioning for the program(s); and,
5. Information on the type of the petitioner's operation(s) and the impact that providing captions would have on its programming activities, for example, the extent to which its programming might not be shown if it is required to provide captions.

Each petition should contain a list of the program(s) for which an exemption is being sought and it may describe other factors that the petitioner deems relevant to an exemption determination, as well as any alternatives that could be a reasonable substitute for the closed captioning requirement. Finally, each petition must be accompanied by an affidavit (i.e., a written sworn statement made under oath before an official attesting to the truthfulness and accuracy of the material in your petition) or be signed under penalty of perjury.

We advise petitioners to carefully review the FCC's recently adopted Memorandum Opinion and Order, Order, and Notice of Proposed Rulemaking in Anglers for Christ Ministries, Inc., which can be found at <http://transition.fcc.gov/cgb/dro/caption.html> and corresponding FCC rules (47 CFR § 79.1(f)(2)-(3)). These documents describe the requirements for obtaining an economically burdensome exemption in detail.

THE PETITION PROCESS – What Happens When a Petition is Sufficient or Deficient

If CGB determines that the petition provides sufficient information upon which to make a determination of whether or not to grant a closed captioning exemption, it will place the petition on public notice in CG Docket No. 06-181 at <http://fjallfoss.fcc.gov/ecfs/>. Members of the public will then have 30 days to file comments on and/or oppositions to the petition, after which the petitioner will have 20 days to respond. At the end of this timeframe, CGB will review the petition, along with information provided in any comments and responses received, to determine whether providing captioning would be economically burdensome for the petitioner. While a petition is pending, the program at issue does not need to be captioned.

If, however, CGB determines that the petition and supporting documents do not provide sufficient information needed for the FCC to make a determination as to the merits of its petition, the petition will be considered deficient and CGB will not place the petition on public notice.

YOUR PETITION

As noted above, CGB has determined that the petition you filed with the FCC on August 16, 2010, which you stated in a letter filed May 2, 2012, remains current and accurate, provided some information, but it failed to provide sufficient information for us to make a determination as to whether the provision of closed captioning would be economically burdensome for you. Your petition contained information on your financial resources, verification that you sought assistance from your program distributor, and the effect of having to caption on the continued availability of your program and provided an affidavit. With respect to your financial status, when you filed your petition you indicated that the program was new in 2010, but did not provide documentation of your financial status at that time. Your petition states that price quotes from several closed captioning companies were attached. However, no such estimates were attached to the copies of your petition received by the FCC on May 2, 2012. We also note the inclusion of a list of sponsors. We therefore conclude that your petition is not sufficient to be placed on public notice. As mentioned above, if you wish to receive further consideration for a closed captioning exemption for your programming, you must supplement your petition by filing the information listed in the third paragraph of this letter by August 24, 2012, which is 30 days from the date of this letter. If you do not file this additional information by that date or the information that you provide is still deficient, your petition will be dismissed without prejudice to re-filing on October 23, 2012, and you will be required to begin providing closed captions for this programming on October 24, 2012.

If you decide to supplement your petition, your petition, as well as any supporting financial information provided, will be available for public inspection. If your petition contains confidential information, you may request “confidential treatment,” i.e., that it not be shared with members of the public, pursuant to FCC rules. See 47 C.F.R. § 0.459. If you provide information for which you want “confidential treatment,” you must also submit a second version of your petition with the confidential information redacted (this must be submitted along with your request for confidential treatment). The redacted version will be publicly disclosed. If your request for confidential treatment is granted, the “public version” of your petition must still contain sufficient documentation to support your claim that closed captioning would be economically burdensome. This documentation is needed so that the public understands the basis for your exemption request and can comment on its merits.

If you have additional questions pertaining to the filing of an exemption request, please contact the FCC’s Disability Rights Office at captioningexemption@fcc.gov.
